PROFILE

My name is Sanjida Siddiqa Mahima, and I am currently pursuing a degree in Computer Science and Engineering at the University of Asia Pacific. I have a strong interest in both software and hardware fields, and I'm passionate about learning and exploring new technologies. My strengths lie in analytical thinking, time management, and staying organized under pressure. Eager to keep pace with evolving tech trends, I'm committed to continuous learning and look forward to contributing meaningfully to projects that encourage both personal and professional growth.
